

ATTRACTIOMS TO BE SEEN AT THEATERS HERE NEXT WEEK

John Barrymore and Constance Collier will be seen in the Messrs. Shubert's production of George du Maurier's "Mystery Girl," "Peter Ibbetson," at the Belasco Theater next week.

"Peter Ibbetson" had a very unusual success in New York, where it has been in five theaters since it was produced at the Republic Theater last season. Other than John Barrymore and Constance Collier, the more important members of the cast are Ethel Wallis Clark, Alice John, Mercedes Desmone, Alice Butler, Alexander Loftus, Jules Epiot, Eugene Begley, Catherine Charlton, and Emily McLean.

NATIONAL.

A new stage offering by the producers of "Turn to the Right" is apt to be worth while, at least, and considerable interest is aroused over the announcement that Winchell Smith and John L. Golden will present for the first time on any stage, at the National Theater next week, "Lightnin,'" a live wire comedy by Smith and Frank Bacon. Mr. Smith's name has been associated with many successes—such as "Turn to the Right," "The Boomerang," "The Fortune Hunter," "Brewster's Millions," and other delightful comedies—while Mr. Bacon will be affectionately remembered for his charm and pathos as the old servant in "The Cinderella Man," as well as for his work in "The Miracle Man," "Stop Thief," and an old favorite, "The Fortune Hunter." In "Lightnin'" Mr. Bacon has the title role. The sale of seats begins tomorrow.

B. F. KEITH'S.

Hebert Bosworth, with a noteworthy company, presenting his own version of Jack London's "The Sea Wolf," and Stella Mayhew, "The Cheapest Comedienne," will head the B. F. Keith Theater bill next week. The theater will give three performances of Monday and Saturday and close on Tuesday.

Entertainments will be the dainty premiere danceuse, Maryon Vadic, and the Spanish court violinist, Ota Gyeri; Little Billy, the Lilliputian comedian; Franklyn Ardell and company in New York, Walter Damrosch conductor, tomorrow afternoon, January 24, at the Belasco Theater. Washingtonians will be afforded the rare opportunity of hearing the great operatic artist who has captivated the musical world by his remarkable genius.

An excerpt from a criticism by Max Smith, of the New York Americans, is indicative of the impression that Heifetz made after his first recital: "Comparisons are often useless; but it would be difficult to hesitate to say that in all his experience he has never heard any violinist approach as close to the loftiest standards of absolute perfection as did Jascha Heifetz yesterday."

POLIS.

George M. Cohn's celebrated musical comedy, "The Yankee Prince," will be next week's attraction at Poll's Theater.

The Poll Musical Comedy Players are determined to be especially equipped to personnel and all the elements that go to make a gorgeous production for a revival of this famous George M. Cohn's revue. "The Yankee Prince" is typical American and has been brought up to date with the addition of topical dialogue and songs, successively introduced Charles Sinclair has arranged for a big series of numbers and unusual effects.

GATEY.

Drew & Campbell's 1917-18 edition of "The Liberty Girls" with a cast of popular favorites headed by Jack Conway, will be the attraction at the Gatey Theater next week. The supporting cast will include Michael Puglia, an Italian comedian; James Collins, a clever straight man; Patricia Baker, charming prima donna; Barry Helton, comedian of uncertain methods; Hilda Giles, a dashing soubrette; Mae Penman, ingenue; Maxine Elliott and Edward Grimes, eccentric comedians; Frank W. Martin, juvenile. Besides, there is an unusually large chorus.

COSMOS.

Josie Flynn, with a large company of girls minstrels, both in black and white face, will play her annual engagement at the Cosmos Theater next week. The new company includes two Washington girls, the Brown sisters, and is said to be the best ever offered. "The only feminine imitator of Al Jolson" is the actress, Julian Eltinge, who will include the Parley Boys, with their musical glasses and xylophones; a foreign act; Burns and Foran, in dance numbers; Maude Leone and Company, in the costumes of farce; "Movie Minnie"; William Calidi, an Irish humorster; and "Gael and Edge," a character comedy, "The London Bridge." The big photoplay will be the Triangle feature, "The Goss of Destiny," with Alma Rubens as the picture star.

NEWMANS.

Newman's illustrated traveltale, at the Belasco Theater next Sunday, at 8 p.m., "One Flew South," is a drama, with incident, love of Southwestern Indian life. The rare motion pictures and exquisite color views in this "Speculating Journey" will take you through New Mexico and the great deserts of Arizona and on to the world's great natural phenomena, the Rainbow Bridge, the Grand Canyon, the arches of stone, the beauty of the desert, the white moon. These scenes in mountain slopes and trackless deserts have to be crossed and the leisurely comfort-loving tourist never takes the journey.

In this travel tale, Newman will take you off the beaten track and show you the Taos, Navajos, Hopis, and Blackfeet tribes, as only the Indian can tell them. This is a land of blue and gold. The desert of gold in the sun-light and silver in the moonlight.

SPECIAL MATINEE.

L. Stoddard Taylor, manager of the Belasco Theater, announces that, owing to the great demand for seats, the crook who is trying to steal his farm, and how he finally wins out against odds, makes a thrilling and humorous picture. Thursday and for the last half of the week, Wallace Reid will be seen in "Rimrock Jones."

STRAND.

William S. Hart in "The Bargain" will continue to thrill audiences at Moore's Strand Theater throughout the remainder of the current week. The picture, which has been a smash hit, "The Bargain" is shown throughout the week compelled the postponement of "Ghosts of the Sea" until next Sunday. This beautiful film play of unparalleled pictorial splendor and idyllic charm will hold the screen at the Strand from Sunday through next Wednesday, with Tuesday necessary to the picture. Thursday to Sunday the feature will be "His Own People," in which Harry Morley and Gladys Leslie are starred.

GARDEN.

Ann Murdoch will be screened in a remarkable pictorial reproduction of Charles Frohman's stage success, "The Impostor," by Edward Merrick and Michael Morton, with many of the original company filmed in the supporting roles, as the chief attraction at Moore's Garden Theatre on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week. From Sunday through Wednesday of next week—beginning Tuesday—the Garden screen will be occupied by Harold Lockwood, aimed at the public of the North woods in winter. William Russell will divert patrons of the North woods in winter. William Russell will divert patrons of the North woods in winter.

One Way to Save the Bride the Trouble of Exchanging Her Presents

Copyright, 1918, by E. A. Rumely.

By Goldberg

The theater will give three performances of Monday and Saturday and close on Tuesday.

Entertainments will be the dainty premiere danceuse, Maryon Vadic, and the Spanish court violinist, Ota Gyeri; Little Billy, the Lilliputian comedian; Franklyn Ardell and company in New York, Walter Damrosch conductor, tomorrow afternoon, January 24, at the Belasco Theater.

Washingtonians will be afforded the rare opportunity of hearing the great operatic artist who has captivated the musical world by his remarkable genius.

An excerpt from a criticism by Max Smith, of the New York Americans, is indicative of the impression that Heifetz made after his first recital: "Comparisons are often useless; but it would be difficult to hesitate to say that in all his experience he has never heard any violinist approach as close to the loftiest standards of absolute perfection as did Jascha Heifetz yesterday."

TEN STAR SERIES.

The sixth concert of the Ten-Star Series will be given at the National Friday, at 8:30 p.m. Louis Prima, conductor, and the Belasco Theater.

KREIG'S EXPRESS,

229 H Street N. W. STOPPAGE, PACKING AND SHIPPING.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—WE MOVE ANYTHING, ANY TIME, AND WE DO IT WITH THE SAME EXPERTISE AS WE DO IT WITH THE UNITED STATES STORAGE CO.

DRIVER—Milk wagon, 168 P St. N. W.

DISHWASHER—Colored; $8 per week. Apply 3418 11th St. N. W.

DRIVER—Sibley Hospital, 1509 N. Capitol st.

DRIVER—Sibley Hospital, 1509 N. Capitol st.